

Accounting system program for Para rubber collecting business and Para rubber latex processing in the Southern area is enhanced by CAD. In the future, raw milk, paddy and palm oil will be included.

Mr. Singthong Chinnawornrungsee, Director – General of the Cooperative Auditing Department (CAD), reveals that since the Cooperative Full Pack Accounting Software (FAS) has been introduced comprehensively in the South of Thailand, cooperatives running Para rubber collecting and Para rubber latex processing business use FAS successfully. The piloted cooperatives are able to work quickly and serve members broadly. Thus, CAD plans to go further to the other regions, hoping to expand good practice up to 200 cooperatives.

Accounting system program for Para rubber collecting business and Para rubber latex processing is regarded as the first time that CAD has prepared for specific business. This is to help cooperatives manage their business in time with accuracy and efficiency. We can know the exact number of members who run Para rubber business in order that we can give them services and pay more attention to them. The mentioned program was officially open on the 26th of August, 2011 in Songkhla. Plenty of interested cooperatives participated in the event where there was a presenting ceremony of Honorary Plaques to the cooperatives joining 999 Accounting Software, 999 Goodness for the King in the Southern region.

However, after this program being widely known, CAD will do more for other business namely raw milk, paddy, palm oil or even fruit collecting business. It is expected that the program will serve cooperatives' members in conformity with agriculturalists in particular to gain more benefits.

“With a good result of using the Accounting system program for Para rubber collecting business and Para rubber latex processing in some piloted cooperatives in the South, CAD will still go on developing the program in order to be in accordance with cooperatives' task for their most efficiency. At the same time, CAD is studying for the betterment of other business. We are sure that strengthening cooperatives will make communities progressive with stable strength as well”, says Mr. Singthong.
